

chemical names, since the general public may not be informed well enough of their meanings.

Your policy should include several items, yet should be short enough to be able to be memorized by your employees. Include the company goals in your statement. Make sure your policy indicates that your company will perform environmental auditing and that you will use external experts if their services are needed. When the policy is written, it should be no longer than a few sentences. Some sample company environmental policy statements are included below.

Procter & Gamble¹

In accordance with the above commitments, it is Procter & Gamble's policy to:

- Ensure our products, packaging, and operations are safe for our employees, consumers, and the environment.
- Reduce or prevent the environmental impact of our products and packaging in their design, manufacture, distribution, use, and disposal, whenever possible.
- Meet or exceed the requirements of all environmental laws and regulations.
- Continually assess our environmental technology and programs, and monitor progress toward environmental goals.
- Provide our consumers, customers, employees, communities, public interest groups, and others with relevant and appropriate factual information about the environmental quality of P&G products, packaging, and operations.
- Ensure every employee understands and is responsible and accountable for incorporating environmental considerations in daily business activities.
- Have operating policies, programs, and resources in place to implement our environmental quality policy.

XEROX²

Xerox Corporation is committed to the protection of the environment and the health and safety of its employees, customers, and neighbors. This commitment is applied worldwide.

The following principles shall govern all business practices in the design, manufacture, procurement, marketing, distribution, maintenance, reuse/recycling, and disposal of products and related services:

- Protection of the environment and the health and safety of our employees, customers, and neighbors from unacceptable risks takes priority over economic considerations and will not be compromised.
- Xerox operations must be conducted in a manner that safeguards health, protects the environment, conserves valuable materials and resources, and minimizes risk of asset losses.
- Xerox is committed to designing, manufacturing, distributing, and marketing products and processes to optimize resource utilization and minimize environmental impact.
- All Xerox operations and products are, at a minimum, in full compliance with applicable governmental requirements and Xerox standards.
- Xerox is dedicated to continuous improvement of its performance in Environment, Health and Safety.

Baxter³

Our Commitment to People and the Environment

Baxter will be a global leader in environmental, health and safety (EHS) management. This is consistent with Baxter's business interests, ethics, and shared values.

Specifically, we commit to the following:

² Reprinted with the permission of Xerox Corporation. Copyright 1998 Xerox Corporation. All Rights Reserved.

³ Source: Baxter International's Environmental, Health & Safety Performance Report issued 1997. Reprinted by permission of Baxter International, Inc.

¹ Reprinted with the permission of Procter & Gamble. Copyright 1998 Procter & Gamble. All Rights Reserved.